

KING'S CLOSE CALL

Edward VII Narrowly Escapes Death on Shamrock II.

YACHT STRUCK BY A SQUALL

Her Decks Swept Clean of Mast and All Gear.

SHAMROCK I DAMAGED

LONDON, May 22.—During the race between the two Shamrocks and the Sybarita in the Solent today a sudden squall struck the yachts. The topmast of the Shamrock II was carried away and then her mainmast went by the board, carrying all her sails with it and leaving her practically a wreck. The topmast of the Shamrock I was also carried away in the squall.

There was some delay in establishing a starting line. The wind freshened considerably and blew twice to thirteen knots, with the prospect of magnificent racing. King Edward, desiring to take a more active part in the proceedings than was possible on board the challenger, accompanied by Sir Thomas Lipton and two ladies. The preliminary starting signal was given from the Erin.

Struck by a Squall.
While the yachts were maneuvering for the start a squall came without the slightest warning and the bowsprit of the challenger was carried away short. The extra strain thus thrown on the topmast proved too much for the spar. It whipped, broke and doubled off to leeward, carrying the whole weight of the jacks and gear over the side in a twinkling. Almost as the topmast fell the great steel mainmast, weighing more than two tons, and carrying spars and gear weighing an additional three or four tons, swung by a moment and then, almost by a miracle, plunged over the side and into the water with a ripping, tearing sound of breaking wire and tearing gear in the air.

The members of the royal party were seated on deck, close to the companionway. The king and queen, looking on in pleasure, watching the fight which Captain Syren more was making for the advantage at the start. The yacht was riding along at a formidable speed, and the yachtsmen, with a mere fringe of sail, seemed a rather perilous party for the accommodation of the vessel.

As the wreckage swept the deck it was most astonishing that no one was injured. For a moment or two the situation appeared to be desperate, but the king retained his composure. Most of the head men went overboard.

Shamrock I Also Suffers.

Within five seconds of the disaster, the Shamrock I here around to render assistance. When she in turn was caught by the squall and her sails and topmast spars collapsed, leaving her helplessly crippled.

The press tug following the racers ranged alongside the helpless yachts, and a torpedo boat which was in the vicinity and the Sybarita sent boats to the scene. But in answer to the distress signals, more sent the reassuring message that all on board had escaped without injury.

Quickly as possible the king and the royal party were transferred to the Erin, and later the king, accompanied by Sir Thomas Lipton, landed at Southampton, which place his majesty will proceed to London.

In the meanwhile the crews of the racers set about clearing away the wreckage. Over the wreckage and the topmast spars and gear it was found impossible to get them on board and they were cut away and allowed to sink, after which the wreckage was sunk. The yachts were then towed back to Hythe, there to await a decision as to what should be done toward repairing them.

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 22 (via Haytian cable).—Venezuela's refusal to accept the French protocol, covering the renewal of diplomatic relations with Venezuela, was due to the objection of Venezuela to a clause providing for arbitration of claims which originated on the eve of the last revolution. THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR IT WERE COMPLETED BY THEM IN THE MESS HALL AT SUPPER.

"A copy of the findings of the board of investigating officers forwarded to the War Department to this report. The findings give fuller details of the demonstration, and also the names of the cadets who instigated it, those who were prominent in it and those who aided and abetted it.

Much Remains to Be Done.

"I have read carefully all the evidence taken by the board. It supports the findings, and both show that considerable has yet to be accomplished to implant in cadets the essentials of good discipline when matters concerning the proper treatment of new cadets are concerned. This has been a task which has engrossed my attention for many months, and in endeavoring to attain the desired end and secure from cadets a reasonable regard for the obligations under which they serve, the measures resorted to have covered the several fields of personal representation and personal conduct, and the necessity of warning punishments of different grades of severity. Punishments also which have seemed to have accomplished the end in view have been remitted when the fact became plain.

"As it is evident from the facts set forth above that these measures have not been sufficient to bring about the desired result, the honor now to recommend to the War Department.

"Superintendent's Recommendations.
"First, that the following cadets be dismissed from the Military Academy: Henry L. Bowley, John A. Cleveland, Traugott F. Keller, Raymond A. Linton and Birchie O. Mahaffey, second class.

"Second, that the following cadets be suspended from the Military Academy without pay until April 1, 1902: Olan C. Alshire, Benjamin F. McClellan, James A.
